

Tangata Whenua
Social Workers Association

HE PANUI:

CPD WANANGA: PIKI TE ORA, TE PUEA MARAE

THURSDAY 8 OCTOBER 2020: 9am – 4pm:

FACILITATORS: ROBYN CORRIGAN AND MAREE TUKUKINO.

KAUPAPA:

For many practitioners, there are occasions when professional and cultural boundaries collide. As tangata whenua practitioners, the dilemma when managing the conflict between ethics and tikanga is particularly challenging. Others' cultural world views will have parallels. The wananga assists practitioners:

- to understand the parameters of the boundaries and
- with decision-making.

1. Competence to practise social work with Māori

The social worker demonstrates this competence by:

- demonstrating knowledge of the Treaty of Waitangi, te reo Māori and tikanga Māori;
- articulating how the wider context of Aotearoa New Zealand both historically and currently can impact on practice;
- Te Rangatiratanga: Maintaining relationships that are mana enhancing, self-determining, respectful, mindful of cultural uniqueness, and acknowledge cultural identity.
- Te Manaakitanga: Utilising practice behaviours that ensure mauri ora with a safe space, being mana enhancing and respectful, acknowledging boundaries and meeting obligations.
- Te Whanaungatanga: Engaging in practice that is culturally sustaining, strengthens relationships, is mutually contributing and connecting, and encourages warmth.
